Dear Friend:

I am happy and delighted that you have made the decision to make Jesus the Lord of your life. This is, by far, the most important decision you will ever make. Your life and eternal destiny have been changed. You have been born again and the Bible teaches in 2 Corinthians 5:17 that when you have been born again, old things are passed away, behold all things have become new.

Now that you have been born again and have made a fresh commitment to Jesus, I'm sure that you desire to learn more about all that the Lord Jesus has provided for you. One of the best ways to mature spiritually is through the Word of God and to attend a church on a regular basis where the Bible is taught and the Spirit of God is present. In 1 Peter 2:2, the Bible teaches us, "To desire the pure milk of the Word that you may grow thereby." I encourage you to pray (talk to God) daily and read your Bible daily (begin in the New Testament with the Book of John). Start today.

I desire the best for you. If you are currently attending a church where you are being fed spiritually, please continue to attend it regularly and invite your friends and your relatives. If you currently are not attending a church, please join me at (your church). My job, as a pastor, is to provide you with the Word of God with the anointing of God to help you grow.
